

Reading, Connecting, and Visualising the Condaghes:

The Networks of Medieval Sardinia (the case of S. Maria of Bonarcado)

Hervin Fernández-Aceves
Postdoctoral Research Fellow

International Medieval Congress 2019

Network Analysis for Medieval Studies, I:
Network Analysis of Medieval Charters

Monday 1 July 2019: 11.15-12.45

POWER, SOCIETY, AND (DIS)CONNECTIVITY IN

MEDIEVAL SARDINIA

Arts & Humanities
Research Council

Medieval Sardinia?

- Marc Bloch: Sardinia was 'a poor country whose inhabitants, after their flight from the coastal region ravaged by pirates, lived in quasi-isolation. As a result, the first documents written in Sardinian are much older than the earliest Italian texts of the Peninsula'.

Medieval Sardinia?

Judicatures? Not quite!

Sardinian rulers:

- IUDEX / IUDIKE / REX

Sardinian autochthonous polities:

- LOGU / RENNU / REGNU

A 'network' approach for medieval Sardinia?

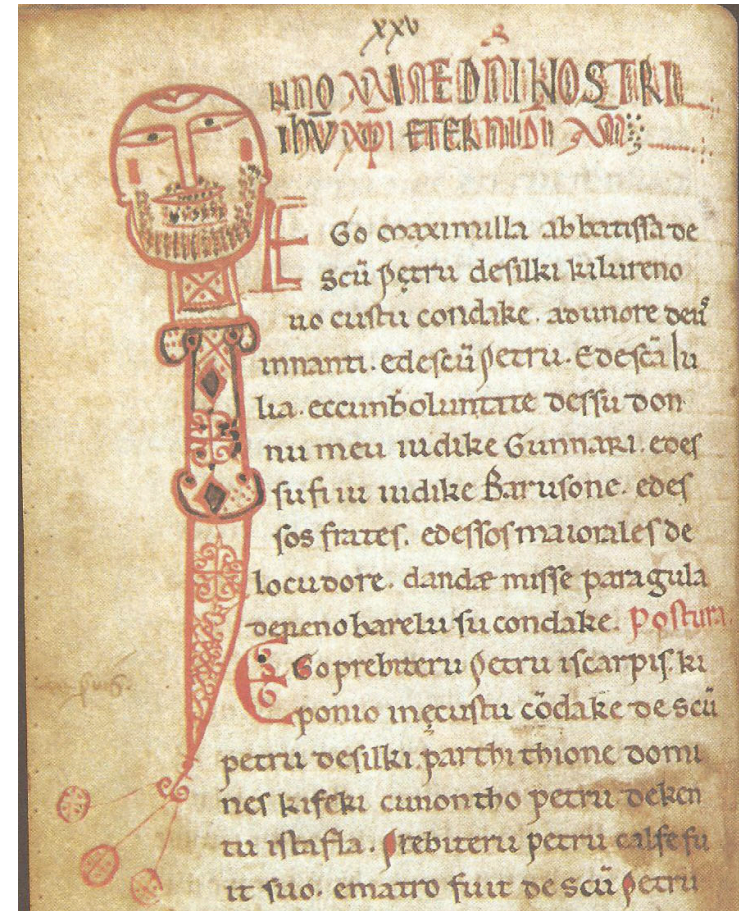

- Alessandro Soddu:
'the network of castles and villages, monasteries and towns, is in fact a map of the power and community life that [...] expects to be adequately questioned to better understand the links between resources and population, economic vocation and means of production, local tradition and external contributions, given material and social hierarchies'.

What is a condaghe?

A compiled collection of transactions and disputes which recorded the internal history of economic, administrative and legal organisation of an ecclesiastical foundation and those individuals and collectives subject to them.

... some sort of Sardinian chartulary

What is a condaghe?

From the Greek κοντάκιον, referring to the rod or stick (κοντός, κόνταξ) around which a scroll or volumen was rolled.

The case of S. Maria of Bonarcado

The case of S. Maria of Bonarcado

Bonarcado derives from the Greek πανάχραντος –

the ‘immaculate’ Virgin Mary that have been venerated there since the Byzantine era.

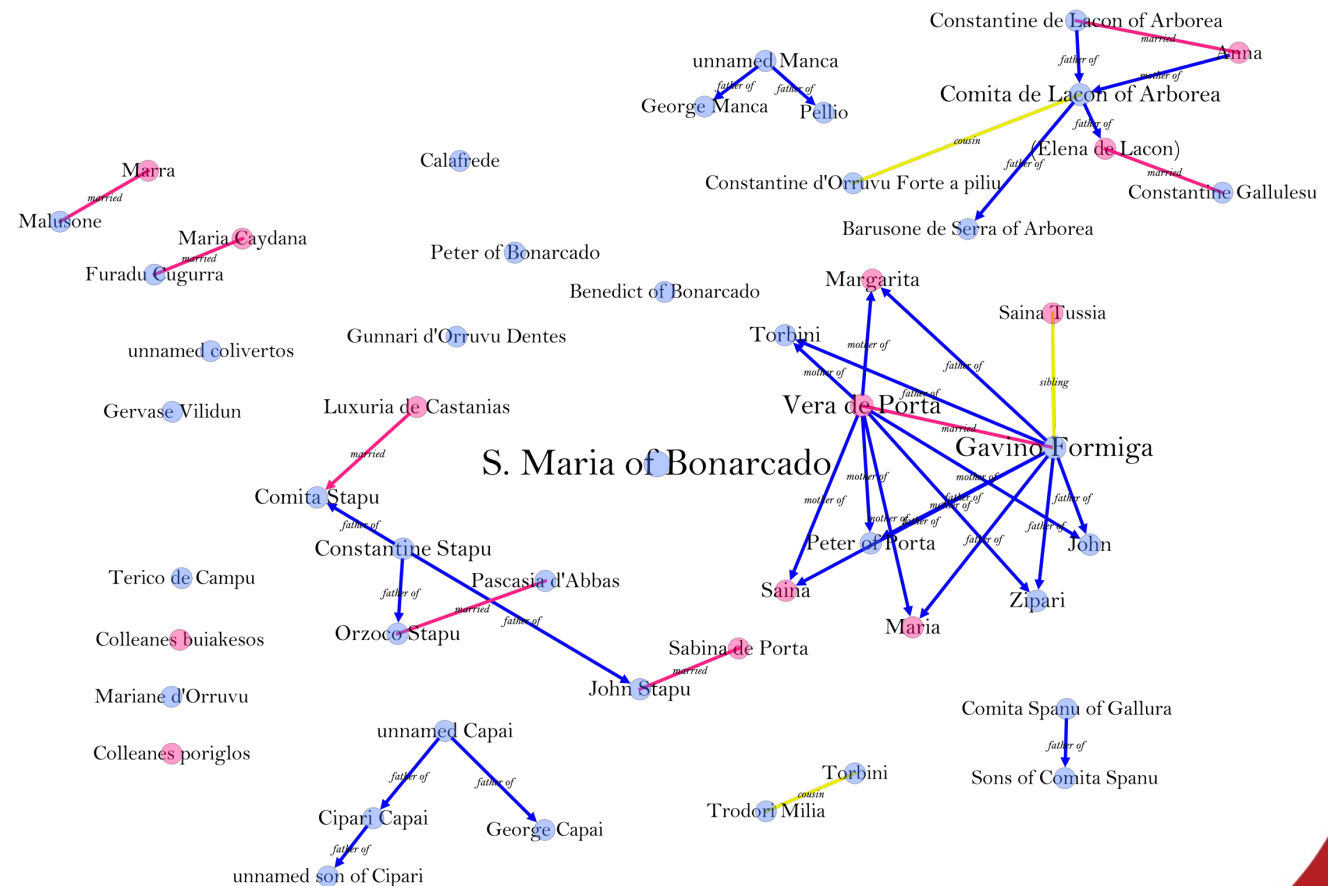

The case of S. Maria of Bonarcado

According to Besta and Zanetti:

| Folia | Time frame |
|---------|----------------------|
| 29r–36v | 1167–1169 |
| 37r–44v | 1185 – early 13th c. |
| 45r–52v | 1171 – 1184 |
| 53r–60v | c. 1110 – 1146 |
| 61r–68v | 1146 – 1164 |

(1110-1146)

Others indirect

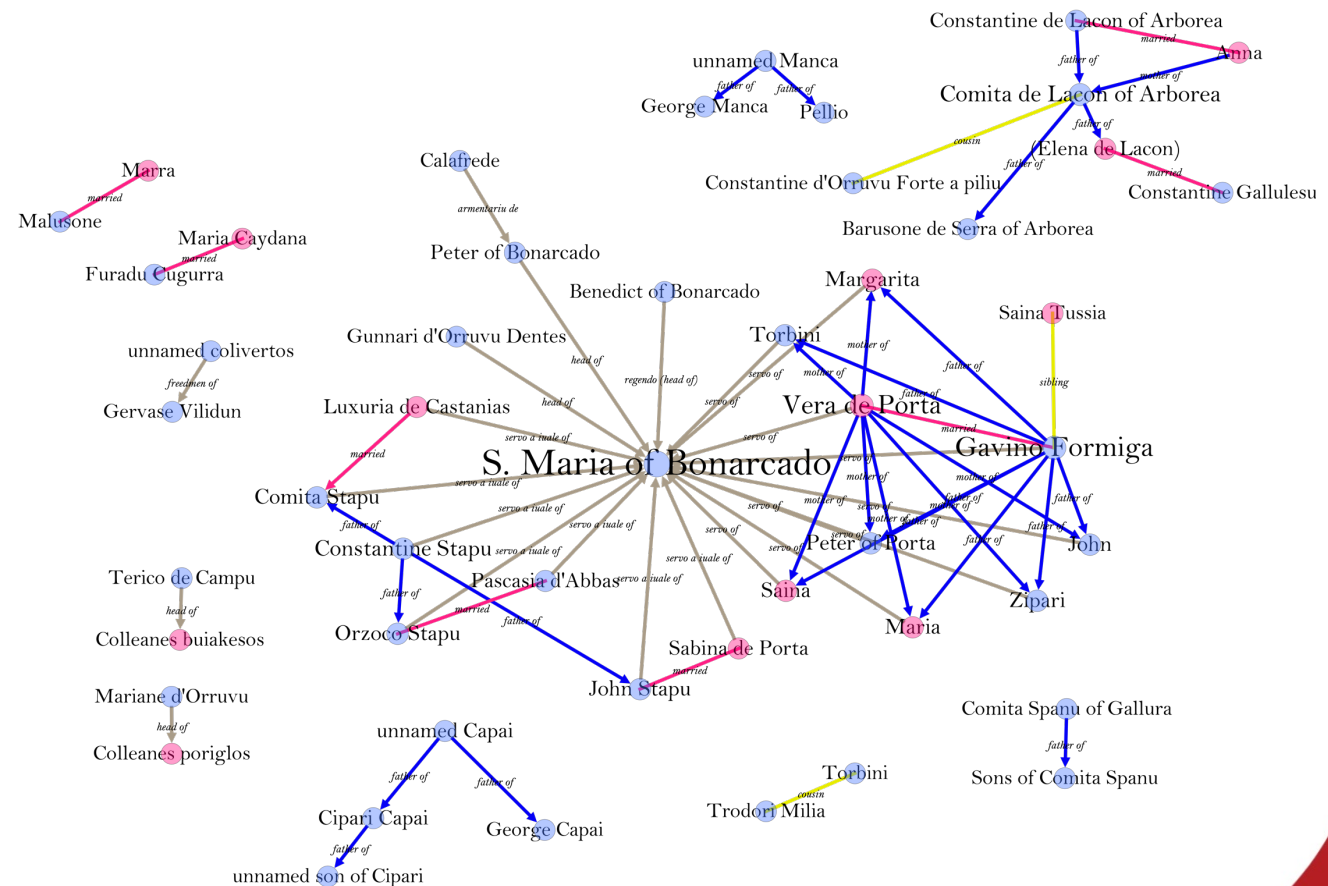

[illegible]

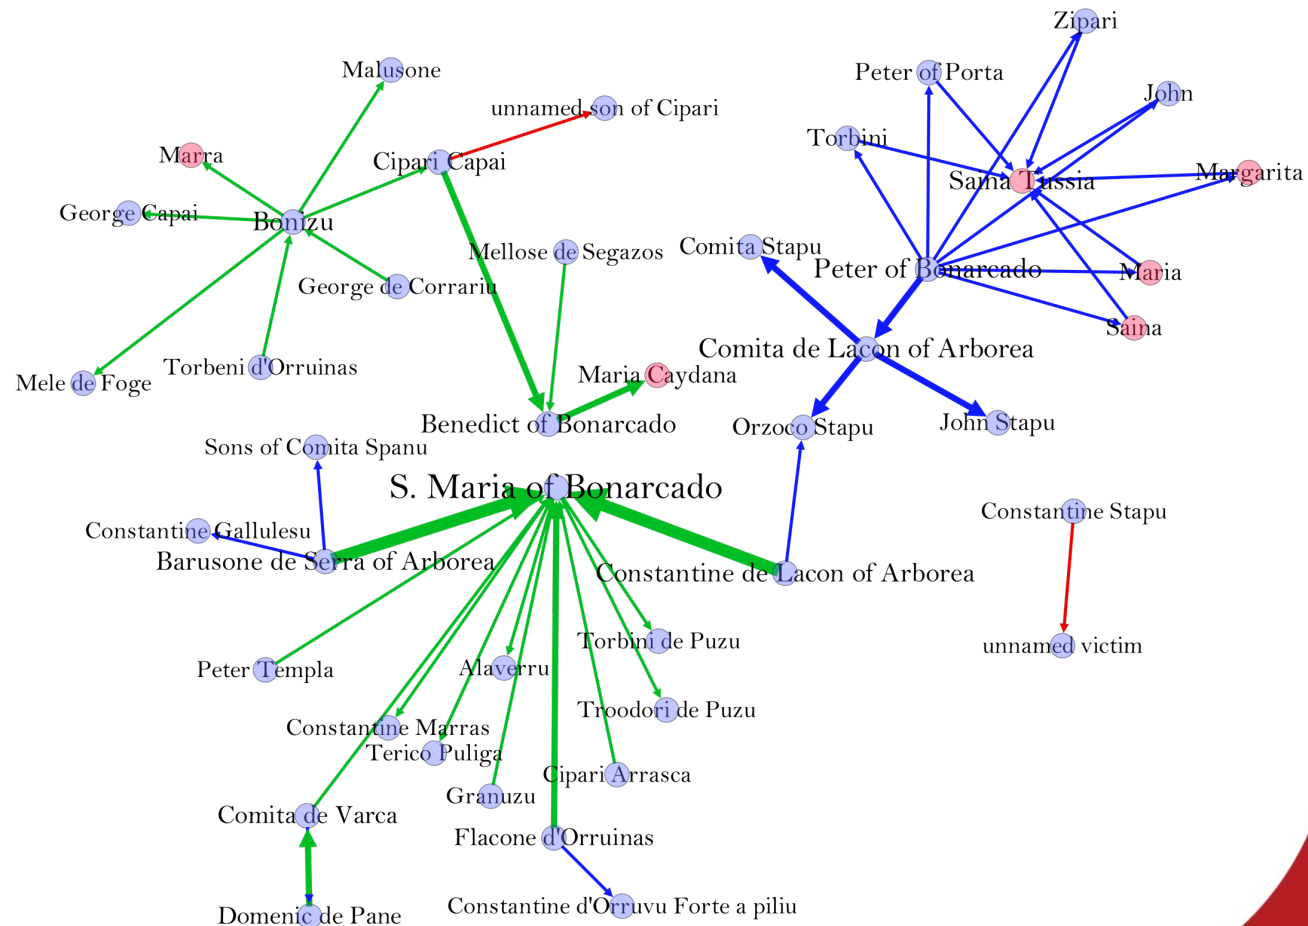

Direct descendency

Others indirect

Institutional

Economic
Kertos (judicial)
Injury

[illegible]

The case of S. Maria of Bonarcado

Witness-to-witness network

[Multimode to one-mode]

(1110–1146)

Number of communities by modularity:

4 (colour coded)

Discussion

Main challenges:

- Lack of precise dating;
- Undefined sequencing, with a non-chronological arrangement of recorded transactions;
- Mixed record of both economic transactions, donation statements and legal disputes (kertos).

Discussion

Fields of potential:

- Close-knit communities around central monastery;
- An 'endemic' terminology;
- Lists of witnesses;
- Kinship and institutional relations attested in the recorded disputes;
- Sardinian onomastics;
- Sections categorised by time frames.

POWER, SOCIETY, AND
(DIS)CONNECTIVITY IN

MEDIEVAL SARDINIA

Arts & Humanities
Research Council

I would like to thank the Arts and Humanities Research Council whose funding of the project 'Power, society, and (dis)connectivity in medieval Sardinia' (AH/S006273/1) has generously supported this research.